OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

COMPARING construction activity in Campbell this year (1967) with the previous year (1966), based on the records of city's building department, is especially revealing as an illustration of the effect the tight money situation apparently had on the local picture.

There are hopeful signs that tight money may be loosening, if the July report of the city's building department can be taken as any indication.

Wally Bryon, the city's building official, reports that this July there were 15 permits issued for single family dwellings, two permits for duplexes and one permit for a four-plex.

In July, 1966, nary a permit was issued in any of those three categories.

In July, 1966, the $250,000 building permit for the new St. Lucy's Church was issued which raised the total valuation for the month to a respectable figure. And the commercial category in the same month was also 'way ahead of this July.

But residential building activity this year is running about doubled that of last year, according to Wally's figures.

IN A RATHER frustrating way we have learned on a first-hand basis during the last few weeks that these figures from Wally's department apparently give a fairly accurate picture of the current housing situation in Campbell.

The demand has caught up with the supply.

That is, if one can use the availability of rentals, either apartments or homes, as any criteria.

Efforts of Campbell Chamber of Commerce members to find a suitable rental for Len Edholm, new C of C manager, and his family, (wife and two preschool age kids) within the city limits of Campbell proved fruitless.

Local C of C people had hoped to find a domicile for Len before he was to officially take over the office here on Monday.

But we all fell on our face.

On the other hand, as inconvenient as this failure of ours might seem to be for Len to start with, it could possibly work out better in the long run.

It has been our experience that, even on a temporary basis, the woman of the household generally prefers to be involved directly in the choosing of housing for her family.

Admittedly, it didn't start out that way in this case...but---

Last stop before Pony world series

C-M all-stars move into semi-finals

Campbell-Moreland Pony Leaguers, having last week convincingly wrapped another tournament (regional in Utah) on the long, long trail to a world championship, now move into San Bernardino for the western division (semi-finals) playoffs, the last stop before the Pony League world series.

The local all-stars left Tuesday for San Berdoo where tomorrow (Thursday) at 6 p. m. they play the northern regional champions in the first game. The games will be played at Perris Hill Park in San Bernardino and the game will be broadcast in that area over KFXM.

The northern region team that plays C-M is the winner of Washington, Oregon, north Idaho and west Montana area.

FIRST GAME

It was a happy and determined band of Pony Leaguers from Campbell-Moreland that invaded Springville, Utah last week and came out on top on Saturday night by defeating Carbon, Utah 8-1 for the regional crown. C-M also played Carbon in the initial contest last Wednesday and won 8-0.

The Utah tournament brought together two California teams (Sacramento and Campbell-Moreland) and two Utah squads (Carbon and Springville), Springville was the host for the tournament and although the town's team did not win any games in the tourney, the local contingent were enthusiastic over the treatment they received from their "Utah foster parents" during their stay there.

In the first Carbon-C-M battle, walks led to the downfall of the Utah nine, for C-M took a 4-0 lead after two innings and was never headed.

Three quick double plays pulled winning pitcher. Steve Hinklet, out of potential trouble. Kevin Jasper relieved in the last two innings.

In the second contest that same night, Sacramento beat the host team, Springville, 4-0 in a no-hit affair.

SECOND WIN

On Thursday it was Utah vs. Utah and the two California winners banging heads. Carbon's three run explosion in the seventh proved to be the key point in the all Utah battle and C-M had an easy time disposing of Sacramento 9-0.

Campbell-Moreland, in this contest, threatened to blow the game wide open in the early innings but only managed to get two runs on four hits in the first inning and Sacramento "erased" two-hits in the second by a double play.

But with Bob Nickeson and Tom Haney doing the mound chores for C-M, Sacramento was getting nowhere.

Solid base hits allowed C-M to score two more runs in the top of the sixth and Sacramento collapsed in the seventh to allow five C-M runners to cross the plate.

Carbon defeated Sacramento 8-7 on Friday night in the surprise of the tournament.

THE "BIG ONE"

Then came the big one on Saturday night.

The local all-stars went right to work and scored single runs in in the first three innings. Then they really put away the contest in

County Fair opens Friday

Gates will swing open wide this Friday, Aug. 18, at noon at the county fairgrounds when the 23rd annual Santa Clara County Fair opens for a 10-day run. (Aug. 18-27)

Opening ceremonies will be presided over by Miss Diane Daley (Miss Saratoga) who was named Miss Santa Clara County Fair at the annual pageant last Saturday night.

She will be assisted by two princesses, Miss Susan Wise (Miss Almaden) and Miss Bonnie Aldag (Miss Los Gatos) who were also chosen on Saturday from among 15 attractive girls representing the various communities of the county.

This Saturday, Aug. 20, Campbell will be among the communities that will be especially honored at the fair and Miss Carol Moreno, (Miss Campbell) will be among the special hostesses for the day.

Miss Moreno is office secretary for the Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

Last year the fair set an attendance record when 358,333 people checked through the gates and an even larger crowd is expected this year.

According to fair officials, $66,988 will be offered in fair premiums this year with the largest amount ($26,825) allocated to the senior livestock division.

Agriculture and horticulture will have $10,891 in premiums; floriculture, $6,314; home economics, $2,838; arts and crafts, $330; poultry, rabbits, pigeons, $6,479; FFA, $2,957; 4-H, $7,717; junior floriculture, $30; and other feature exhibits, $2,607.

The junior division has a large entry list and the home economics will show all phases of the modern woman and what she has accomplished in the home.

The first county fair showings of original work by county residents will feature the art exhibit. More than $2 million "on the hoof" will be on display in the livestock division and more than 200 commercial exhibits will be housed in the huge 100 x 520 commercial tent.

There will be harness racing with a total of $3,000 in prizes being offered on the track in front of the main grandstand.

Naturally the carnival, located on the "midway" at the southwest area of the fairgrounds, will attract its usual attendance and the entertainment is geared for all ages.

So, again, they say, "Hi! Neighbor welcome to the Santa Clara County Fair."

HI! NEIGHBOR, WELCOME TO THE FAIR--Miss Carol Moreno, "Miss Campbell", poses in front of the gate of the Santa Clara County Fair which opens this Friday, Aug. 18 and will run through Aug. 27. On Sunday, Aug. 20, Miss Moreno, who is also C. of C. office secretary, will be a special hostess when Campbell and other communities will be honored.

City Council wants to know

Can city form housing agency?

Campbell City Council by a 4-1 vote Monday night directed City Manager Bob Stephens to report at the next meeting whether it would be feasible for the City of Campbell to operate its own housing authority instead of being part of the county body.

The action of the council came as a climax of an emotionally charged discussion in which representatives from many sub-standard housing areas, as well as other residents concerned with local housing conditions, participated.

The point of issue was that Campbell had been asked to adopt a resolution authorizing the Santa Clara County Housing Authority, when funded by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), to operate a lease-subsidy program within the city limits.

LEASE

Under the federal proposal, the county housing authority would lease housing units from private owners and rerent them to low-income families at rents the families can afford.

Under California law, however, the County Housing Authority may not operate within a city unless the city council of that city consents.

Although a majority of the City Council indicated that they agreed with the basic principles involved in the proposal, they felt that there were still some unanswered questions as to the city's responsibility, when the local housing jurisdiction was completely turned over to an outside agency.

Arthur Potts, who was named application coordinator by the supervisors when the County Housing Authority was established, in his explanation of the overall project and what was being planned, admitted that there were still a number of loose ends to be cleared up as far as administration and responsibility were concerned.

However, he urged the council to adopt the necessary resolution because it was, in his

C. of C. manager takes up post

Len Edholm, 28, newly-appointed Campbell Chamber of Commerce manager, took up his duties in the community on Monday of this week.

Edholm, for the past two years has been head of the commercial and industrial department of the Greater Bakersfield Chamber of Commerce.

The new C. of C. manager was successful in his house-hunting efforts and plans to bring his wife and two pre-school age children to the area this weekend.

Edholm was introduced at the City Council meeting on Monday and later in the evening with Dick Hardy, past C of C president, attended the newly-formed Santa Clara County Association of Chambers of Commerce in Santa Clara.

City Council to try again

Storm drain bids go down drain

Construction of downtown Campbell's long-awaited storm drain project (from Second St. to Los Gatos Creek), one of the first steps in the eventual improvement of the street, will be deferred until after the first of the year.

On Monday night, the City Council was faced with five bids for the project. But the lowest one exceeded the engineer's estimate by more than $27,000, so the city fathers rejected all of them.

The staff was then directed to call for new bids at a more opportune time to see if the contractors would come closer to the engineer's estimate. It was indicated by Frank Lewis, of the city engineering staff, that a better price was anticipated at a later date. Available contractors are currently tied up with other projects, Lewis pointed out.

The city engineering staff had estimated that the job, which would include the main line going from Second St. to the creek and also a branch up Harrison to Grant and over to Third, would cost $91,829.25.

The lowest bid submitted was by Ebert-Spartan for $119,119.20, approximately 30% more than the estimate.

The second low bid was $14,000 more or $133,257.40. The other three bids were: $139,109.70, $151,697.00 and $158,901.00.

It had been hoped by city officials that the construction for the project would be completed by November, allowing about three months for the job.

Moving traffic on the heavily-traveled street during the construction period is expected to be a headache no matter when the job is started. One of the conditions would be that one lane of traffic (westbound) would always be open. Other traffic would be detoured on the south via Everett or through

Editorial

It's a fair deal

One of the most interesting approaches in the realm of civic improvement in this community's history has been developed for the streets and traffic measure that will appear on the ballot in the bond election as "Measure B" of the six-part program.

The capital improvement bond issue, consisting of measures "A" through "F", totals $3,400,000, including a special $400,000 phase for library facilities. This will be repaid through a lease arrangement with the county and will not affect the bond redemption tax rate.

The other measures are: "B", streets and traffic safety, $1,045,000; "C", service center, $130,000; "D", fire protection, $340,000; "E" police and city administration facilities, $835,000 and "F", park and recreation improvements, $850,000.

These measures from "B" through "F" are basically the recommendations that were made by the Citizens Advisory Committee after spending six weeks in studying the overall capital improvement program that had been developed by the city administration.

The citizens group also recommended that the total bond issue should not exceed $3.2 million and that was adhered to by the City Council in calling the election.

The measures on the ballot, in most cases, are easily defined and described.

But for "Measure B", the streets and traffic safety issue for $1,045,000, a special "policy" has been adopted by the City Council which had been recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Of the $1,045,000, street lights and traffic signals take up $220,000 and $25,000 is specified as this city's share in the building of a pedestrian overpass for San Tomas Expressway.

The remaining $800,000 is specified for improvement of major and minor streets.

The "policy" recommended by the 64-member citizens committee and, subsequently adopted by the City Council, specifies that funds for the minor street improvement be allocated by a special formula.

Simply stated it will be on a "first come, first served" basis with property owners on the minor streets bearing one-third of the cost of the street improvements with the city picking up the rest of the tab, exclusive of utilities.

In a sense, this means basically, that on a given street, because both sides of the street will be improved, the property owner actually is only paying for one-sixth of the cost of the total improvements.

We concede that this formula or policy could be subjected to criticism by many who are familiar with all the ramifications that are involved in attempting to set some sort of priority for the improvements of streets in town.

It seems to us that the policy is the most equitable arrangement for the entire community that could be devised. We commend the citizens group and the City Council for formulating it.

Obviously Campbell's present street maintenance and improvement policy, in common with most cities, consists of maintaining streets in the condition to which they have been improved and participating with the developer in the construction of new major streets.

Under this plan, each homeowner, or retailer or industrialist finances the construction of the standard residential, commercial or industrial street at the time the area is first developed.

Thus, in most cases, the original cost is borne by the developer who, in turn, passes on the cost to the ultimate purchaser.

This, of course, works efficiently and fairly when an entire area is developed or a new development is started, for the continuity of the traffic pattern is assured.

However, problems arise when only a portion of an area develops and another part remains undeveloped. Naturally the unimproved section creates a traffic problem, as is the case in Campbell on Bascom Ave., Hamilton, Winchester, Campbell and San Tomas Road.

Developing an equitable policy for all taxpayers then is a difficult task.

In fact we doubt very much that there is a perfect answer to it.

The case is very much the same as far as the "deficient neighborhood streets" are concerned.

Those who live in the "newer" areas of the town in totally improved tracts have basically paid for the street improvements in their areas when they purchased their homes.

Thus, they would have every right to question a policy that would allow the city to pick up the entire tab for street improvements in the older sections of the city. Taxes are paid by all.

So it seems to us that this "first-come, first served..one-third-two-thirds" formula provides a common denominator for the entire community. It allows those on a substandard or rundown street who desire to have their street improved to get it done, provided they show the initiative and indicate their willingness to pay a portion of the cost.

Naturally, if there was no limit on funds available for street work, it would be ideal for the city to pay for the improvement of ALL the streets in town.

But there isn't that kind of dough around.

By establishing the "one-third, two-thirds" formula, one third more of the streets in town that need "fixing" can be improved than otherwise would be the case, if the city paid for the whole bit and the same funds were available.

We think it is a fair deal to all concerned.

Others swear that the stories have been deliberately "slanted".

After years of exposure, a newspaperman finally recognizes that accurate reporting of meetings in which controversial issues are at bat, is bound to be unsatisfactory.

We have long maintained that the test of good reporting of controversial issues is when both sides vigorously claim that the news story favored the opposite side. It is surprising how many times this happens.

Admittedly the human element is involved in all news stories. No computer has yet been devised that replaces first hand reporting.

And there are times when just reporting facts get the people who made the facts upset.

THIS WAS BROUGHT to mind recently by John Lincoln, the former Los Gatos mayor and head of the bank where our Dorothy is employed, part-time.

John gave Dorothy a paper to bring to us on which was printed an admonition that could apply, we suppose, to all of us who "quote" people from time to time.

Although we have the admonition pinned to the wall just above this typewriter, we have to keep reading it to get its full meaning. And even then we are not sure. (Lincoln didn't say where he obtained the phrase. Probably from someone who had been "misquoted").

But here it is:

"I know that you believe you understand what you think I said;

"But I am not sure you realize that what you heard is NOT what I MEANT."

See what we mean? You have to read that a couple of times to get the gist, if you do then.

-0-

SOME OF YOU PROBABLY recall that we discussed in some length in this column a few weeks ago the distinctive brown coloring of the limousines of Campbell Memorial Chapel.

We mentioned that the Chapel sometimes gets a new car and sells the old one to a local resident. But when one sees a brown job parked in front of a residence, one often expects the worse, unless, of course, you happen to know that a deal had been made for a car and not a funeral.

The column reported that the Kurt Ritter family on Alice and the Rev. Ben Gould family on Kamson, had recently purchased the distinctive brown-painted nine-passenger limousines.

We added that we probably would continue to get a slight start every time we saw the cars, even now that we know the score.

It just shows what association-advertising-trade-marks, etc. can mean, even for a mortuary.

We have now learned on good authority (Ben Gould himself) that the Billy Gould, Ben's son, is the proud owner of the former mortuary vehicle that is now used for transporting church groups as well as just plain transportation. (To the golf course, maybe?)

But Billy, according to his dad, claims that, if the color of his car continues to bother us, he is willing to repaint it.

Provided, we furnish the paint.

That's what we call chipping from the old block.

opinion, the best housing legislation that has yet been devised.

TOO INDEFINITE

But four of the councilmen, Mayor Ed Rogers, Bill Smeed, Ralph Doetsch and Homer Hyde, maintained that the program was still too indefinite and that they could not commit the city without more concrete information as to how the program would operate locally.

Mayor Rogers, for example, pointed out that under the proposal the city would "give away" its jurisdiction in the housing field. Yet, he claimed, should a housing problem develop because of the moving in of renters or for some other reason, the city would be held accountable by the residents in the area. He felt that some of the "bugs" of that nature should be eliminated before the city entered into the picture.

Smeed, Doetsch and Hyde agreed that the program needed to be clarified before the city should be involved. Smeed, in particular, emphasized that proposed lease agreements between the housing authority and the landlords had not yet been drafted. Thus the city had no idea what such agreements would contain.

ROSE DEFENDS

Councilman Charlie Rose, however, vigorously defended the housing program

Rose's plea to his fellow councilmen to take action now before the housing situation became worse and that it was time "to think with the heart as well as the pocketbook" was enthusiastically received by the large crowd in attendance at the meeting.

PETITION

A petition signed by more than 100 people was presented to the City Council by Mrs. Elsie Vannory, 72 N. 3rd St., as vice chairman of the "Campbell Citizens Council on Housing" urging the city to participate in the county housing authority.

The petition cited five points; (1) In Campbell there are 400 householders with incomes below the poverty level; (2) Elderly people with fixed incomes can't afford present rentals; (3) Older houses are being condemned but no provisions are made for replacements; (4) The Santa Clara County Housing Authority uses federal funds without any cost to the city; (5) The rent subsidy program maintains the integrity of the tenants and the free enterprise economy.

A number of other speakers called the council's attention to the deplorable housing situation that exists in many sections within the city limits, especially in the Gilman Ave. area.

More than 30 persons signing the petition listed 117 Gilman Ave. as their address, a trailer camp with a number of one-room cabins that are scheduled to be removed within a year.

The petition also contained signatures of residents not residing in sub-standard areas but who were concerned with the overall housing situation.

MINISTER SPEAKS

One "block" of signatures was from members of St. Lawrence Episcopal Church.

The Rev. A.D. (Kit) Carson, vicar of the mission, after the council by a 4-1 vote (Rose dissenting) had directed the city manager to see if the city could establish its own housing authority, criticized the council's action.

He claimed that the council acted "timidly" and that now was the time for "boldness".

The Rev. Carson also made the sweeping statement that Campbell had the "largest poverty pocket in the county and perhaps the state". He was not asked, however, to verify the statement.

the co-op dryer yard.

Another condition would be that the construction would be on a block-by-block basis.

The city engineering staff, in emphasizing that a later date for the job would be to the city's benefit, explained that scheduling of the heavy equipment needed on the job was a major factor for contractor's to consider.

The staff also hoped that later in the year more firms would be interested. Of the 11 contractors contacted only five submitted bids.

Councilman Charlie Rose opposed directing the staff to call for new bids. He maintained that until a better traffic pattern was developed on Campbell Ave., the job would always be more than the estimates. He said it was wistful thinking to figure otherwise.

Councilman Doetsch's motion to reject the bids (seconded by Bill Smeed) was passed unanimously, but on Smeed's motion to re-advertise for bids, Rose voted no.

It was pointed out at the meeting also that provided heavy rains did not delay the project, having it done after the first of the year could mean less traffic disruption and would also allow the contractor more time to complete the job.

Problems created by drive-in theater concerns City Council

City staff personnel were directed on Monday night by the City Council to continue with their efforts to improve the traffic congestion problems at the Winchester Drive-in Theater.

The council also emphasized that other conditions in the agreement between the theater owners and the city must be carried out, including alleviating the drainage problem and the completion of landscaping.

Council members also discussed a letter received from H. Reed Searle, San Jose attorney, objecting to the huge drive-in theater sign that had been erected on the theater premises.

Searle, in his letter, contended that the sign was erected "in complete disregard for and without knowledge of or attempt to notify the vast majority of the thousands of freeway travelers."

He asked that his letter be considered a formal appeal from the decision of whatever planning commission or jurisdiction which permitted the erection of the sign. He asked also that every legal means should be used to attack and force removal of the sign.

Councilman Homer Hyde took exception to the implication he claimed was in the letter that the City of Campbell was at fault in allowing the sign. He pointed out that the county was involved before the city got into the act.

On the motion of Councilman Bill Smeed, the staff was directed to answer the letter explaining that the sign had been erected lawfully.

In another action, the council gave first reading to the ordinance calling the special bond election for $3,600,000 on October 24. On the advice of City Attorney Joe Bonacina, the entire ordinance was read by City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan. Usually only the title is read by the clerk.

The council also approved the use permit for Quattuor Investments for a four-table billiard parlor on Hacienda near Winchester and also directed City Manager Bob Stephens to notify West Valley College authorities that it was not legally possible to issue special residential parking permits.

It had been suggested that one of the ways to alleviate the parking problem on residential streets caused by college students would be to allow residents unlimited parking.

the sixth with a four run outburst.

Carbon tried to make a battle of it in the fifth when the first batter homered, followed by a single and a walk.

But "Fireman" Tom Haney came in to relieve Steve Hinckley. The "fire" was put out when the next batter hit into a force at second with the guy on second taking third. A walk by Haney then filled the bases.

And that's the way the inning ended, for the next two batters went down the strikeout route.

The one run that Sacramento scored against C-M, was the only one scored against the local aggregation all week while Campbell-Moreland runners trotted across the home plate 25 times.

All ages enjoy track events at Westmont

By SALLY HOWE

Guns are firing at Westmont.

All summer the guns have fired once a week.

Wednesday, August 23, they'll fire for the last time.

Fortunately, no one is hurt by the firing--except some aching lungs and weary legs.

But, if 75 to 100 youngsters and adults want to spend their Wednesday nights competing in track events, sometimes that's all the reward they get. Other times they're more fortunate and win medals and ribbons supplied by the Campbell Recreation Department in competition events.

The events are called "All Comers Meets" and they've been going on as long as memory serves, locally and nationwide. The Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) is sort of god-mother to the events, which seem to attract the track-minded wherever he may be.

Westmont High School has been the scene for local events this summer. Coaches have been Dick Petty, who'll be joining the high school district coaching staff this year and Jim Sullivan, meet director who attends San Jose State College.

Clubs such as the San Jose Cinder Gals, the Hamman Park Track Club, the West Valley Track Club and the Redwood City Striders appear every Wednesday night. In addition to a weekly special event, if there are three contestants for any given event; the event is held. Most are divided by sex and age. The athletics can pole vault, shot put, high jump, and take part in all running events from 100 yard dash to 3 mile run.

The meet has attracted vacationers from Tacoma, Southern California, and a U.S. army soldier on leave. "Age is no barrier to local enthusiasts", commented one coach, "we've even had a father-son team participating."

Westmont isn't the only local school holding such meets. "All-Comers" meet at James Lick High School, San Jose City College, and in Redwood City---wherever track-minded people are.

One recent meet saw three Homestead High boys and one Westmont student participate in an hour run (yes, one hour) around the oval.

The same evening 12 year old Robin Bell (San Jose Cinder Gals) took first place in three girls running events.

Westmonters Jack Hansen, Harry Katz, Rick Davis, Carl Cowan, Pat Kennan all participated and placed first in events. West Valley Track Club runners Carl Springer and Jim Sullivan also were first across the tape. Hamann Park Track Club had winners in Pete Sjostrom, Mike Martella, Lennie Valenti and Bob Pack.

VACATIONING VISITORS--Marilyn Gleason looks on while Gordon Arnold and husband Tom ready themselves to participate in an All-Comers Meet at Westmont High School. The Gleasons, from Lancaster, California, and Arnold, a soldier from Palo Alto, participated at Westmont last year, and made a special point of returning this summer.

Social Security benefits could come sooner

Social Security is often thought of as a monthly check that most people 62 or over get if they or their spouse worked a certain period of time and made enough contributions to social security funds to be insured for the payments.

John J. Cassidy, district manager of the San Jose Social Security office, this week indicated, however, that many monthly checks go to middle-aged people, young people, and even infants.

"Most people know that they can get benefits at age 62, 65, or later, but do not know much about the income protection social security provides for dependents of young disabled workers and for survivors of workers who die at young ages," Cassidy pointed out.

Monthly payments can be made to these dependents of disabled workers under age 65 or the dependents of younger workers who die:

--Unmarried children under 18 years of age, or between 18 and 22, if they are full-time students;

--Unmarried children 18 or over who were severely disabled before they reached 18 and who continue to be disabled;

--A wife or widow, regardless of age, if she is caring for a child who is getting payments based on the worker's social security account;

--Certain other dependents.

Of course, the young severely disabled worker can also receive monthly benefits, if the disability will prevent any work for at least 12 months and the worker had employment covered by social security in five of the ten years immediately before the disability began.

For further information concerning benefits under the Social Security Program, get in touch with the San Jose Social Security office at 500 S. First St. San Jose. Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. In addition, the office is open until 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays, for the convenience of those who cannot visit the office during regular office hours.

State appraisers begin check of property values in county

State appraisers are checking Santa Clara County property values --a key to $1 million daily in state school aid and in property assessment appeals.

John W. Howland, the State Board's area supervisor, said the multi-purpose program establishes the average assessment level in the county and is part of a statewide average used to promote uniform assessments in all countries.

The program, Howland explained, helps to measure the taxable resources of a school district and determine that local schools get their proper share of state school funds. Other things being equal, the state furnishes more aid to school districts with limited taxable resources than to wealthy districts.

The average assessment level, expressed as a percentage of market value for all taxable property in the county, is announced annually as a preliminary figure on the third Monday in July. It is subject to change on or before Aug. 23.

This county average is compared to the statewide average. If the county's assessed values conform substantially, no adjustment is needed.

If the assessed values are far out of line, they will be changed to make the county's average conform with the average for the state.

Mr. Howland said "About $365 million in state funds, part of a larger amount of state education aid, will be shared by more than 1,500 school districts under the equalization formula which employs these county and statewide averages."

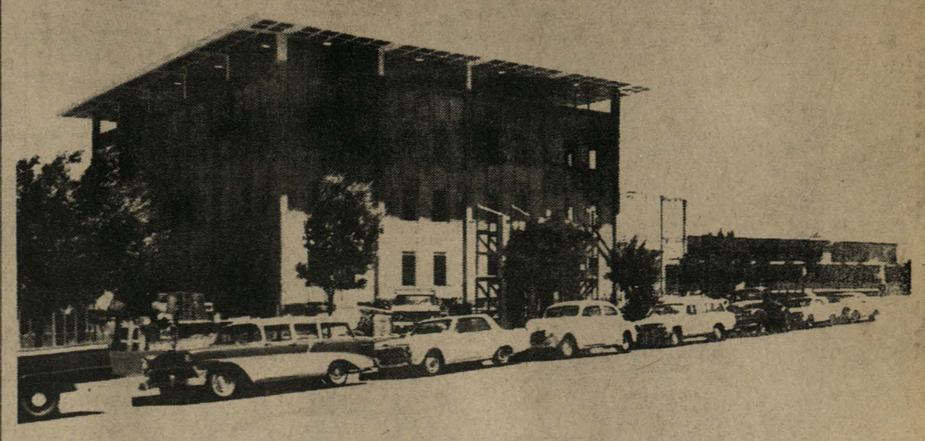
The use of Santa Clara County's average assessment level was extended in 1966 to the taxpayer's assessment appeals process. The state appraisal results also will become part of regular reports on assessor's offices under the 1966 legislation.

The countywide average may be used by a property taxpayer to help him decide whether his assessment is fair when compared to assessments of all other property in the county.

The average assessment level finding also helps measure the extent of repayment of state construction loans to school districts and grants to public libraries.

DONNER PARTY

The last surviving member of the ill-fated Donner Party, Mrs. Isabella Breen McMahon, died in 1935.



FINAL STAGES--Only finishing touches remain before Santa Clara County Juvenile Department staff moves into new $1,520,000 four-story office building. The 170-room structure has been under construction since October 1966. Remaining interior finish work and exterior painting should be completed by September, allowing Juvenile staff to move out of its cramped quarters (right). The new structure has 58,000 square feet of space.

KNEE-PAINTING FOR THE FAIR--Dee Rawlison, 19, of 2289 Montezuma Dr., Campbell, is shown as she puts the finishing touches on an elaborate example of knee-paintings she and her partner, Linda Solari of 3558 Vista Del Valle, San Jose, will be doing at the 23rd Annual Santa Clara County Fair Aug. 18-27. Dee and Linda will take the popular new cosmetic fad beyond the knee to paint ear-lobes, foreheads and gents' bald heads as well.

Knee-painting new "art" presented at County Fair

Make way for the flowered people! Visitors to the 23rd Annual Santa Clara County Fair Aug. 18-27 may leave with colorful floral designs painted on knees, ears, foreheads and bald noggins.

With the increased exposure of bare legs dictated by modern fashion, an imaginative new fad in cosmetic adornment is sweeping the country. Knees, so long neglected cosmetically, have come into their own as a medium for an entirely new art form. Painted flowers and other designs in a variety of brilliant hues threaten to create a new center of interest below the hem-line.

Two attractive young ladies with enterprising spirit and artistic talent, Linda Solari of 3558 Vista Del Valle in East San Jose and Dee Rawlinson of 2289 Montezuma Dr. in Campbell, both 19, have decided to bring the colorful new fashion to the Santa Clara County Fair.

They have rented an artist's location on Mitchell Promenade for the Fair, where they will do their part to brighten the festive holiday atmosphere which prevails at Fair Time.

The Santa Clara County Fair version of the flowery fad will not be limited to leggy ladies. The menfolk will be in the picture, too. Nor will Linda and Dee restrict their efforts to decorating knees. Ear lobes and foreheads will be fair game on members of both sexes, and bald headed gents will have the opportunity to brighten-up that unused space.

Linda, who will be attending San Jose City College in the Fall has been attending the College of Notre Dame in Belmont, California, where she was an art minor.

Dee, who is currently attending West Valley College in Campbell, will enroll at the University of California at Santa Cruz this fall.

"Pioneer" local business opens modern drive-up, dry-cleaning establishment

Operating the same business for more than 25 years in the same community may not be unusual in some areas but apparently in Campbell it is, for there are only few business people in this town who can boast that kind of record of service.

Among this "select group" are Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Benson who on Feb. 18, 1938, opened "Benson's Campbell Cleaners" in a small store space on E. Campbell Ave. just across from where the Tastegood Bakery and Campbell Beauty College are now located.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson have just recently opened a modern, dry cleaning establishment at 570 E. Campbell Ave. (next to Towne Pride Food Mart) which features easy in-and-out accessibility and even "car-hop" service.

This is actually the third location for the dry cleaners on Campbell Ave. in the 29 years the firm has been in Campbell.

The first location was opened in 1938 Benson recalls, on the same day that the World's Fair opened on Treasure Island. Mr. and Mrs. Benson had living quarters in the rear portion of the business.

By 1947 their first location on Campbell Ave. had become too cramped and they moved their business next to the old Post Office building (adjacent to the Country Woman's Club) at 260 E. Campbell Ave.

Dry cleaning equipment was installed for the first time when they moved to the new location. Benson also recalls that it was about that time that Campbell was without any bank, (there are five banks in town today).

Benson, who probably rates the title of "dean" of local business mer because of his record, recalls that Hans Hansen (Tastegood Bakery); Dr. W.R. Morgan, dentist; J. M. Dahl, insurance; Guy Farley, insurance; Tony Raffanti, of Tony's Busy Bee, and Nelson Bros. Trucking, are about the only businesses or professions still in Campbell today that were operating when he first opened in 1938.

With the exception of Farley, all the others have moved at least once in the past 25 years. Tony's Busy Bee, for example, he points out, was started by Tony Raffanti as a restaurant across the street from the location of the cocktail lounge that has long operated under that name.

MODERN DRIVE-UP OPERATION at 570 E. Campbell Ave.

Bob Raffanti, son of Tony, has operated Tony's Busy Bee for a number of years and, incidentally, is just completing the remodeling of Benson's former location at 260 E. Campbell into an attractive and modern cocktail lounge.

During the years that the Bensons have been in Campbell both Lowell and his wife "Skipper" have taken an active part in community affairs. Benson, a long-time member of the Campbell Kiwanis Club, is now finishing out his term as district lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Club for this district.

The Bensons have long resided at 866 Briarwood, Campbell. Their son, Bob, is a student at San Jose State and their daughter, Betty Ruth, a graduate of Camden High School, is now a stewardess with American Airlines.

Extended day program offers social sciences

Two specialized courses in the social sciences will be offered this fall by the Extended Day Division of West Valley College. "The Economic History of the United States" and "The History and Geography of California.

"The Economic History of the United States" (History 10) will be taught on Monday evenings from 7:00 to 10:00 P.M. by Dr. Jack Casey. Dr. Casey has taught at Fresno State College, Bakersfield College, California State College at Hayward, and until January of this year served as a member of the California State Legislature, representing the Bakersfield area in the Assembly.

"The History and Geography of California" (History 20) will be offered on Wednesday evenings from 7:00 to 10:00 P.M. and will emphasize the evolution of California from its earliest beginnings under the Spanish to the dynamic contemporary California society. Included in the course will be the physical characteristics of California as well as the political and social trends throughout its history.

Instructor for this course will be Steve Gilbert who has been a member of the West Valley College faculty for two years.

Both courses will be three semester unit courses and are transferable.

Personal property taxes become delinquent at 5 p.m. on August 31

Edward N. Glaeser, County of Santa Clara Director of Finance, reminded all taxpayers this week who pay unsecured personal property taxes that they will become delinquent at 5 p.m. Thursday, August 31.

Payments may be sent by mail to tax collector, 70 W. Hedding St., San Jose, but must be postmarked prior to 5 p.m. August 31.

If the tax is not paid at that time, state Laws require a 6% Penalty be added to all unpaid taxes. After December 31, 1967, an additional charge of 1% per month will be added.

Unsecured personal property taxes are based on the value of the property on the lien date, March 6, 1967, for the fiscal year 1967-68.

The disposal of property after the lien date does not relieve the taxpayer of his tax liability to the County.

Unsecured personal property consists of inventory, fixtures and equipment, improvements on leased property, boats, airplanes, and all other personal property not included in a real estate tax bill, including livestock and poultry.

SEMI-FINALISTS--The New Cambridge Singers above, were one of sixteen acts to survive the preliminary eliminations in the senior divisons of the amateur talent contest at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, July 30.

The 16 survivors competed in the senior division semi-finals at Alum Rock Park on Sat. Aug. 12, when five finalists were selected to go to the finals on the main grandstand stage on the Fairgrounds on Mon. Aug. 21 during the 23rd Annual Santa Clara County Fair to be held Aug. 18-27.

The finalists will be competing for trophies and merchandise certificates.
